

The world's best Party

You have been given 1,000,000 dollars to host the best party in the world. As a team you must decide the following.

What kind of party is it?

Where is the party being held?

When does the party start and finish?

What music are you going to play?

What style of clothes?

What food is being served?

Why is this the best party in the world?
